

Career Development and Leadership Workshop

About the Workshop

In the words of Charles Dickens,
“It was the best of times; it was the worst of times...”

These can be the best or worst of times indeed. Businesses globally face an uneven playing field as they continue to grapple with economic, environmental and competitive pressures. Communities are under unprecedented strain as continued conflict and social inequities mitigate the human condition. Additionally, we are all looking towards an uncertain future as global warming and environmental degradation force us all to act upon our environmental footprint.

Now more than ever the best of times is contingent upon our leaders.

This two hour interactive workshop will focus upon your role in creating the best of times...
